LENT 2020

Dear Friends:

The season of Lent offers us a sacred time for contemplating what it means to accompany Our Lord as he carries the Cross.

During his Passion, we see Christ laboring under the burden of our sufferings and of those whom we love. As the prophet Isaiah says, "He has borne our griefs and carried our sorrows" (cf. Is 53:4), and he still carries them today. Perhaps this year we might pray for the grace to accompany more closely our neighbors and loved ones who are suffering, and so participate in Christ's own sacrificial love as he shoulders their burdens.

Throughout our Diocese there are many who are suffering. We know this. Every parish has its stories of families experiencing hardship and loss. Our hospitals and shelters have their stories. Our nursing homes and schools have theirs. Indeed, we find the Cross in our own homes. Our parents and grandparents know heartache, and our children have burdens as well. Our Lord carries them all.

Perhaps you know a person who is sick or grieving the loss of a loved one. Maybe you know someone who is suffering from addiction or depression and is tempted to despair. Perhaps you know of someone who is lonely or has been altogether abandoned. It is good to remember that Our Lord is carrying each of them already with great love, placing his sheep on his shoulders (cf. Lk 15:5). And this Good Shepherd invites us to accompany him in holiness that we might share more fully in his mission.

Consider the figure of Simon of Cyrene. We know him from the Fifth Station of the Cross and from the Synoptic Gospels. He was compelled to carry the Cross of Christ (cf. Mt 27:32; Mk 15:21; Lk 23:26). We recognize his initial fear; it is the same as our own. We do not fault Simon for his resistance. Helping Jesus could not have been easy. And yet with God's grace what began as servitude was transformed into a gesture of compassion, even a sublime privilege.

To be sure, we may have cause to be fearful of accompanying Christ under the Cross. Social stigmas associated with some sufferings may cause us to stay away. We might fear our own inadequacies; weaknesses and wounds can cause self-doubt. We may even feel some degree of responsibility for the person's suffering: "I could have done more". Simon would have experienced these fears as Christ was passing by. Indeed, he needed to be driven by the Roman soldiers to accompany Jesus (cf. Mk 15:21). But the gaze of Christ prevailed on Simon and moved him beyond his fear.

OFFICE OF THE BISHOP

Christ himself prayed in the garden before taking up the Cross, "Father if it be possible, let this cup pass", but he saw the Father's love for humanity and was moved to pray, "yet not as I will, but as you will" (cf. Mt 26:39). Love bends the will to the other. It was Christ's love that changed Simon's servitude into sacrifice. And it is Christ's love that can transform our fear into accompaniment.

As your bishop, I have the privilege of seeing that so many of you are already living as Simon, already accompanying Christ who carries the burdens of your neighbors and loved ones. I visit your homes and pray with you in your parishes. I witness your dedication to the people of your ministries and organizations. And I see that many of you, like Simon, allow the gaze of Christ to draw you underneath the weight of the Cross, where your own servitude becomes a privileged encounter with Father, Son, and Holy Spirit and an encouragement to us all.

In light of this witness, I wish to bring particular attention to the newly formed Morning Star Initiative, designed to revitalize Catholic elementary school education on Long Island. I ask all of you to pray for our parishes and schools, our administrators and teachers, our students and their families, and all who are promoting a bold new era of Catholic education and evangelization on Long Island.

This way of sharing in the life of Christ moves us beyond imitation into a real participation with him in his relationship with the Father. The Cross is not a punishment to be endured; it is a decision to love. "He was pierced for our transgressions. He was crushed for our iniquities" (cf. Is 53:5). And when we move in this way toward others in their need, our experience of their suffering is transformed from a burden into an encounter with love. We find, with Simon, that our servitude becomes a mysterious privilege of accompaniment. Underneath the weight of a cross carried with love, we see Jesus.

Too often we feel regret for not drawing near to those who are suffering. Let us pray during this holy season, this season of conversion, for the grace to recognize the gaze of Christ in those who are suffering and to respond to his invitation to share in his Cross. In this way, the Church on Long Island will grow together with Our Lord in grace.

Sincerely in Christ,

+ John O. Barres

Cuaresma 2020

Queridos Amigos:

El tiempo de Cuaresma nos ofrece un tiempo sagrado para contemplar lo que significa acompañar a Nuestro Señor mientras carga la Cruz.

Durante su Pasión, vemos a Cristo trabajando bajo la carga de nuestros sufrimientos y de aquellos a quienes amamos. Como dice el profeta Isaías: "¡Y con todo eran nuestras dolencias las que él llevaba y nuestros dolores los que soportaba!" (Isaías 53:4), y todavía los lleva hoy. Quizás este año podríamos rezar por la gracia de acompañar más de cerca a nuestros vecinos y seres queridos que sufren, y así participar en el propio amor sacrificado de Cristo mientras él lleva sus cargas.

A lo largo de nuestra Diócesis hay muchos que sufren. Sabemos esto. Cada parroquia tiene sus historias de familias que experimentan dificultades y pérdidas. Nuestros hospitales y refugios tienen sus historias. Nuestros hogares de ancianos y escuelas tienen los suyos. De hecho, encontramos la Cruz en nuestros propios hogares. Nuestros padres y abuelos conocen el dolor del corazón, y nuestros hijos también tienen cargas. Nuestro Señor las lleva todas.

Quizás conozca a una persona enferma o en duelo por la pérdida de un ser querido. Tal vez conoces a alguien que sufre de adicción o depresión y está tentado a la desesperación. Quizás conoces a alguien que está solo o que ha sido abandonado por completo. Es bueno recordar que Nuestro Señor ya lleva a cada uno de ellos con gran amor, colocando sus ovejas sobre sus hombros (cf. Lucas 15:5). Y este Buen Pastor nos invita a acompañarlo en santidad para que podamos compartir más plenamente en su misión.

Considere la imagen de Simón de Cirene. Lo conocemos por la Quinta Estación de la Cruz y por los Evangelios Sinópticos. Él fue obligado a llevar la Cruz de Cristo (cf. Mateo 27:32; Marcos 15:21; Lucas 23:26). Reconocemos su miedo inicial; el mismo de nosotros. No culpamos a Simón por resistirse. Ayudar a Jesús no pudo haber sido fácil. Y, sin embargo, con la gracia de Dios, lo que comenzó como servidumbre se transformó en un gesto de compasión, incluso en un privilegio sublime.

Seguro, podemos tener motivos para temer acompañar a Cristo a cargar la Cruz. Los estigmas sociales asociados con algunos sufrimientos pueden hacer que nos mantengamos alejados. Podríamos temer nuestras propias faltas; las debilidades y heridas pueden causar dudas. Incluso podemos sentir cierto grado de responsabilidad por el sufrimiento de la persona: "Podría haber hecho más". Simón habría experimentado estos temores mientras Cristo pasaba. De hecho, necesitaba ser conducido por los soldados romanos para acompañar a Jesús (cf. Marcos 15:21). Pero la mirada de Cristo prevaleció sobre Simón y lo movió más allá de su miedo.

Cristo mismo oró en el jardín antes de tomar la Cruz, "Padre mío, si es posible, que pase de mí esta copa", pero vio el amor del Padre por la humanidad y se sintió conmovido a rezar, "pero no sea como yo quiero, sino como quieras tú"(cf. Mateo 26:39). El amor inclina la voluntad al otro. Fue el amor de Cristo lo que transformó la servidumbre de Simón en sacrificio. Y es el amor de Cristo el que puede transformar nuestro miedo en acompañamiento.

Como su obispo, tengo el privilegio de ver que muchos de ustedes ya viven como Simón, ya acompañan a Cristo que lleva las cargas de sus vecinos y seres queridos. Visito sus hogares y rezo con ustedes en sus parroquias. Soy testigo de su dedicación a las personas de sus ministerios y organizaciones. Y veo que muchos de ustedes, como Simón, permiten que la mirada de Cristo los traiga bajo el peso de la Cruz, donde su propia servidumbre se convierte en un encuentro privilegiado con el Padre, el Hijo y el Espíritu Santo y un estímulo para todos nosotros.

A la luz de este testimonio, deseo llamar su atención sobre la recién formada Iniciativa Morning Star, diseñada para revitalizar la educación católica en la escuela primaria en Long Island. Les pido a todos ustedes que oren por nuestras parroquias y escuelas, nuestros administradores y maestros, nuestros estudiantes y sus familias, y todos los que están promoviendo un momento audaz para la nueva educación y evangelización Católica en Long Island.

Esta forma de compartir en la vida de Cristo nos lleva más allá de la imitación a una participación real con él en su relación con el Padre. La cruz no es un castigo a soportar, es una decisión de amar. "Él ha sido herido por nuestras rebeldías, molido por nuestras culpas" (Isaías 53:5). Y cuando nos movemos de esta manera hacia otros en sus necesidades, nuestra experiencia de su sufrimiento se transforma de una carga a un encuentro con el amor. Descubrimos, con Simón, que nuestra servidumbre se convierte en un misterioso privilegio de acompañamiento. Debajo del peso de una cruz llevada con amor, vemos a Jesús.

Con demasiada frecuencia lamentamos no acercarnos a quienes sufren. Oremos durante esta temporada santa, esta temporada de conversión, por la gracia de reconocer la mirada de Cristo en los que sufren y de responder a su invitación a compartir su Cruz. De esta manera, la Iglesia en Long Island crecerá junto con Nuestro Señor en gracia.

Sinceramente en Cristo,

+ John O Barres
